Markets are dynamic and it is hard to predict which asset class will do well in a particular market condition. There are periods when equities outperform, while during uncertain times they may correct sharply. However, when equities are volatile, other asset classes such as debt, gold/silver may help limit the downside. In short, no single asset class can deliver in all types of market conditions.

Therefore it is prudent to diversify your investments across multiple asset classes, so when one asset class lags behind, the others can make up for it – helping to minimize volatility and maximize returns.

But selecting the right mix of assets in ever changing market conditions is hard. The smart thing to do is to invest in Multi Asset Allocation Funds. These funds invest in equity, debt, gold/silver with an aim to navigate different market conditions by dynamically allocating across asset classes to help optimize returns.
